HR MANAGER

An attractive role for a versatile generalist to further build a contemporary HR function.

Leading Sydney's change toward environmental sustainability, this unique established company is transforming recycling with new technologies. With multiple sites and workforce of ~300 ranging from blue-collar through to scientists, the challenge is greater operational capability.

Building on a positive & committed culture, you will implement contemporary people processes in an agile & commercial business where both results and people are valued. The focus is to build line management capability, service delivery, safety, workforce planning and ER through down-to-earth initiatives that realise a productive business and engaged workforce.

An easy and empathetic communicator, you will bring quality HR processes, legislative understanding and strong coaching capability, all underpinned by common sense, passion and integrity. Experience with a diverse, unionised workforce is important as are relevant achievements.
